Lisa Soares Hale, daughter of Bob and Dannia Soares was in town for a visit and book signings for her new children's book, Penny Love. I had the opportunity to meet and sit down with Lisa on Tuesday, October 10th for an interview.

Born and raised in the Hawaiian Islands, Lisa grew up with a loving family and extended family, all of whom played a large role in her life. A touching family tradition was the inspiration behind her first book, Penny Love. A grandmother and her granddaughter find a penny while walking along; the grandmother picks up the penny and gives it to the little girl telling her that every time she finds a penny, she'll know that her grandmother loves her. As the little girl grows, so does her jar of pennies, each a symbol of her grandmother's love. In due time, the little girl becomes a grown woman with a granddaughter of her own to pass on the loving tradition.

This is Lisa's first book and it has received rave reviews, often being compared to the classic, Love You Forever. While enjoying the success of Penny Love, she is already busy in thought for a second children's book.

After reading this beautiful story of a grandmother's love for her granddaughter shown through a small, copper penny, I not only purchased copies of her book for my own grandchildren, but made them Penny Love jars to collect them in. I know that I will never again look upon a penny in the same way.

Note: Some signed copies of Penny Love are available for purchase through Dannia Soares.
